The Giant's Leg is a natural archway in the rock at the extreme southern end of the Isle of Bressay, the headland on which it is situated being Bard Head. The name "Bressay" is a corruption of the word Bardsey, or Giant's Isle (Norse, Bardi—a giant), so that it is easy to trace the reason why this natural buttress to the "Giant's Isle" should be called the "Giant's Leg."

The Giant's Leg is a natural archway between the rocks at the extreme southern end of the Isle of Bressay, the head-land on which the castle is situated, being Bard Head. The name is a corruption of the word Bardsey, or Giant's Isle (Norse, Bardr—a giant,) so that it is easy to trace the reason why this natural buttress to the "Giant's Isle" should be called the "Giant's Leg."
